THEY WANT A PRAYER SERVICE

A FRIEND of ours came in our office one day last week and we had a long talk. We told him of some of the things we would like to see done in Statesboro and he told me of some things he would like to see done in Statesboro. We each agreed that what the other wanted was for the good of the community. We were impressed with one of his ideas—it was good and we would like to see it carried out. It can easily be done.

He told us that he attended prayer meeting on Wednesday evening of last week here and that five people were present including the pastor and his wife. He then launched his idea.

He says that he knows a number of people who would like to go to prayer meeting but feel that they cannot go to any of the services held in the Statesboro churches because of a self-consciousness over which they have no control. This self-consciousness being brought about because of the difference in income levels which does not provide them with "church going clothes."

This feeling is natural and there should be no criticism of it and this should not keep them from going to our churches. But where this feeling cannot be broken down then take the churches to them—hold prayer meetings in their homes. Our friend told us that he knows that these people, who need the comfort that accompanies the attendance of church and prayer services, would welcome an opportunity to meet once a week in their own homes, rotating from week to week, with the local pastors and laymen as leaders.

We can easily see that our friend is right. We know, too, that the Church of God is open to the humblest and to the richest. But a church filled with people dressed in their very best is apt to awe and chill the soul of a person who is not fortunate enough to have a "Sunday suit." We often hear given as a reason for not attending church, "I didn't have a thing to wear," then we can't blame these people for not going to prayer meetings and churches.

We once read of a pastor of a one-church town where this same problem came up. He was told that the poorer people of the town would not attend church because they did not have clothes as good as those who regularly attended; all their clothes were clean but they were overalls and working clothes. Being a rather blunt sort of preacher and seeing a straight line the nearest distance between a problem and a solution, one Sunday appeared in the pulpit dressed in a pair of overalls, with a blue shirt and the collar open. The word got around and the next Sunday his church was filled with those who had previously stayed away. The idea caught on and soon the entire congregation came dressed to make the least fortunate feel "at home" in their church.

We do not suggest anything so drastic. But only tell this to illustrate the problem. We believe the suggestion made by our friends is a good one—to meet in the homes of these people and bring to them what they need and what the church offers, safe from eyes critical of what one wears.

THE WORKINGS of the Lord are strange indeed. We were impressed upon reading the notice to contractors that sealed proposals will be received by the State Highway Board of Georgia for the construction of the bridge over the Ogeechee River at Dover is dated the day Harvey Brannen was buried. This bridge, together with other work along what we knew as the Burton's Ferry Route, was one of Harvey Brannen's dreams. He worked for months and years to help the people of this section realize this dream.

JUNE 1—A magic day for hundreds of fishermen in Bulloch County. The fishing season opens on that date and conditions seem ideal. Creeks and rivers have cleared and unless there are heavy rains in the meantime the fishermen will have good fishing. With warm weather here the boys are tugging at the bit and a-raring to get at the big ones.

The average country weekly newspaper is a soothing experience after seeing and reading the searing headlines printed across the front pages of our daily newspapers.

DO SOMETHING FOR THEM!

ABOUT THIS time of the year for the past four years we become concerned, along with a number of parents in Statesboro about providing a place for the boys and girls of Statesboro to go "in swimming."

This year we are more concerned than ever before. For until this year there was a swimming pool which could be made available. But this year there is no swimming pool! Alfred Dorman has filled up the one he had been letting the boys and girls use. There is not even a hole in the ground big enough to put water in to go wading. And this year mothers and fathers are going to have trouble with their children going to the creeks, ponds, and big ditches to do their swimming.

School will be out this week. Nearly 800 boys and girls released with enough surplus energy to wreck any neighborhood if not given an outlet.

There is only one answer: A municipal playground with adequate equipment, including a swimming pool, all under proper supervision.

There are those who will say—"but we have a playground"—Oh, yes! Where? Oh, that... Reference is made to the "municipal playground" on Fair Road, where the lighted football field is located. We see a little group (about ten) out there once in a while playing softball. But when we say playground we mean a place where a kid finds swings, flying rings, a ball field, tennis courts, a swimming pool, slides, roller-skate walks, and the other methods of releasing the pent-up energies of youth.

Sure it will cost money. But can you think of a single project where money could be better spent?

Statesboro, one of the leading small cities in the state, is behind in providing for its young people, and something should be done about it. Children are going to play and they will find places to play—but these places will be some vacant lot, in the streets, in some vacant house, in the creeks on the outskirts of the city, on the "big ditch" and other such places. And all these places are not conducive to a wholesome brand of play.

Let's give the boys and girls of Statesboro a place they can call their own; where their energies can be directed into worthwhile channels, and watch the dividends such a place will pay.

PATRONIZE YOUR INDEPENDENT GROCER

THIS WEEK The Bulloch Herald carries a full page of grocery advertising sponsored by the local independent grocers of Statesboro. These grocers are all home-owned and home-operated and deserve the patronage of the housewives of Statesboro and Bulloch County. The clerks who wait upon you are your neighbors and friends. The money you spend with them, they in turn spend it with you and your husband and your friends who are in other businesses.

Read this page carefully and select your needs and when you go to your independent grocer tell him you saw his advertisement in The Bulloch Herald.

These independent, home-owned grocers handle quality merchandise, that can be depended upon. Their shelves include national advertised brands as well as products from the farms and homes of Bulloch County.

If a crooked stick is before you, you need not explain how crooked it is. Lay a straight one down by the side of it, and the work is well done. Preach the truth, and error will stand abashed in its presence.—Surgener.

Experience is a safe light to walk by, and he is not a rash man who expects to succeed in future from the same means which have secured it in times past.—Wendell Phillips.

Dignity of position adds to dignity of character, as well as to dignity of carriage. Give us a proud position, and we are impelled to act up to it.—Boove.

There are two kinds of people that give editors the fits: them that raise a rumpus for putting their names in print and them that burn him for leaving their names out.

A Kansas widow is even suing a newspaper for saying in an obituary notice that her husband "had gone to a happier home."

Facts are so hard to find, truth is shy, and every newspaper makes mistakes.

It's also too bad editors aren't free to publish all the local scandal that's in circulation. Of course, some of 'em wouldn't live long, but while they did, they'd publish readable newspapers. Editors should be most appreciated for what they don't publish.—Clayton Rand, in the Douglas Enterprise.

Tomorrow night will see a bunch of young people with the world by the tail and on a down-hill drag, with a diploma for credentials.

PARTING SHOT: Having written in these columns on providing a place for the less fortunate people in Statesboro to attend prayer meeting we now have this idea: Since only five people attended prayer service at one of our churches last week and two of these five were the pastor and his wife—why not let the church for prayer service for those whose Sunday go-to-church clothes consist of their work clothes, washed and ironed?

Memorial Day

The Man of the Week

Editor's Note: This week we present a variation of our feature, "Man of the Week." We present "The Couple of the Week." John A. Robertson, of Brooklet:

"Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall be called the children of God." This passage of Scripture can truly be applied to Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lee, Sr., of Brooklet, Ga.

Andrew Jackson Lee was born in Brooklet, Ga., Dec. 15, 1856, and he has lived here all of his life.

His mother was Sara McCall, Thompson, of Pinehurst; Mrs. C. S. Cromley, of Brooklet; Mrs. C. S. Cromley, of Savannah; Dan Lee, of Savannah; Fred Lee, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. E. E. Proctor, of Millen, and A. J. Lee, Jr., and owned 2,200 acres of land in one tract.

A. J. Lee was one of ten children born to Mr. and Mrs. William Lee. The ten children, six boys and four girls, lived to be grown. Now only two are living. A. J. Lee and his sister, Mrs. Wayne Parrish, of Brooklet.

Mr. Lee was the first postmaster in Brooklet, serving for fifteen years, from 1880 to 1914, when he gave up the postmasterhip to devote all of his time to his farming interests and to his sawmill.

Mr. Lee served as superintendent of the Brooklet Methodist Sunday school for twenty years, and as steward of the Brooklet Methodist church for fifty years, and during those fifty years he has been absent from quarterly conference only two times. He is now an honorary steward of the Brooklet Methodist church and also a trustee of the church.

Mrs. Lee, who was Mary Morgan, was born in Liberty County, July 3, 1869. Her parents were John Chester Morgan and Martha Lanier, of Liberty County. She has one brother living.

For a number of years she taught a Sunday school class in the Brooklet Methodist Sunday school, and she assisted Rev. J. M. Lovett in organizing the present Woman's Missionary society of the Methodist church, and served as president for many years. She now has charge of the home service of the church.

WE SAW John Anderson at the hospital last Thursday morning. He was looking O. K. He said he had been in the ground, put an "Old Maid" seed in it, cover it up and go out and tell some character "I started my flower garden yesterday," and you become a full-fledged member in good standing. Therefore, you find that every other member of that unorganized fraternity has a bulb, a cutting, a batch of seeds that they want you to have. They know where you can find anything from Abella Grandiflora to Dimorphotheca. And the language they talk is like something heard over the short wave radio.

We were late "starting our flower garden," already Lena Bell Foy, Mrs. Eva Simmons, Doll Byrd Foy, Mrs. Laura Warnock have promised us enough stuff to plant all the southern section of the 129th district. And every time we pass Dan Bland's home going to our home we stop and he gives us something to set out. And we love it. We have even given

FOOD CHATS

June is just around the corner, and with it's hot days make us think of cooling things to eat and drink.

Jellied salads and jellied desserts are now indicated. Make them ahead and have time to water the garden.

Deep dish apple pies are around again. For a sauce try cream whipped with brown sugar and flavored with nutmeg.

Apple rings with ham? Ham is a hot weather meat.

For a hot mouthful there is deviled ham and soft cheese on toast. There will never be an end to sandwiches.

Never forget that cheese goes with salad as words to music. There is a cheese for every salad. Ever stuff peppers with macaroni in cheese sauce? Cover with crumbs and bake. A hearty dish for supper.

Try cream puffs filled with crab meat and mayonnaise are a late addition to the appetizer tray—good, too.

Tuna fish molded in lemon jelly with green peas and served on lettuce with mayonnaise will cause those oh's and ah's.

Tuna and crab meat made into scallop are delicious and desirable. Use equal parts of each, have the sauce highly seasoned, cover the top with crumbs and dot with butter or margarine before baking to a golden brown.

There is more to a sardine than a fishlet in a can. Roll them in fine cracker crumbs and grill, brush with melted butter or mayonnaise, dot sugar and broil. Use as a garnish or serve piled in the hollow of grapefruit shell. Fish and lemon are well known and liked. This will be, once tasted.

In sea-food cocktail a spoonful of partly frozen tomato juice does that certain something. Looks lovely, too.

A cooling cucumber - tomato cocktail suggestion is molded to make jelly enclosing sardines, garnished with egg slices and mayonnaise.

A garnish should be good to eat. Little jelly molds, lemon, tomato, orange or mint are lovely hot weather trimmings.

HOUSEWIVES WARNED ABOUT PROBLEMS IN DRY-SEASON CANNING

If high-quality products are expected and spoilage has to be minimized, Georgia housewives need to recognize certain canning problems brought about through several successive dry seasons, according to Miss Katherine Lanier, extension specialist in food preservation and utilization.

"Vegetables grown during a dry season have less moisture content, which means that vegetables will soak up liquid during the canning process," the Georgia extension specialist pointed out. "For this reason, looser packs; that is, less food and more liquid, should be the method of canning all vegetables during a dry season. Foods canned in this way will keep better, especially corn and root vegetables."

"It is well to add a few minutes to the pre-cooking time of such vegetables as corn, root vegetables and fields peas," she continued.

"During a drought, we sometimes encounter canning types bacteria that are more heat resistant than the usual forms dealt with during normal, quick-growing seasons when adequate moisture is supplied the growing vegetables. In such cases, longer processing periods are required. Such conditions necessitate that time tables be increased in order to assure thorough sterilization of the canned foods."

"An increase of ten minutes, sometimes only five minutes, in pressure cooking time tables should suffice in most instances. Hot water time tables should be increased to the early stage of the production, and when in young and tender condition for eating and canning."

"The yeast bread contest is sponsored by a large mail order concern (Sears, Roebuck & Company, Atlanta), while prizes in the contest on quick breads are being given by a shortening products manufacturer (Wesson Oil and Snowdrift company). Both contests are conducted by the 4-H club department of the Georgia Agricultural Extension service.

DATES AND PLACES ANNOUNCED FOR 4-H DISTRICT CONTESTS

Dates and places for Georgia's 4-H district contests were announced this week by G. V. Cunningham, state 4-H leader. Several hundred 4-H boys and girls will compete for free trips and prizes at these four district contests.

Southwest Georgia winners will gather at Tifton July 8-10, while boys and girls from the Southeast section will assemble in Douglas July 11-13. Northeast Georgia club members will meet at Monroe July 15-17 and Carroll will be host to 4-H youngsters July 18-20.

District competition in all 4-H club contests will be included at the sectional meetings, Cunningham said. State winners will be selected at a later date.

GATOR INVADER SEEKS CHICK FEED

When Mrs. Bob Clay, of DeSoto, an American, went out to feed the chickens the other day, she didn't figure on feeding a hungry seven-foot alligator, too. In fact, she went three miles to get her father, Jim Hooks, to shoot the invader reptile, which measured eighty-five and one-half inches from tip to tail.

THIS IS CABBAGE

Two heads are better than one. But twenty-three heads solves the meal problem for almost a month. Expertly says C. E. Boldt, of Leesburg, when they belong to one cabbage. Mr. Bolton's agricultural masterpiece, a "Flat Dutch," weighs ten pounds.

We believe... IT TAKES More THAN PAYING TAXES TO MAKE US Good Citizens

PAYING TAXES is just one of the many essential obligations in the life of a worthwhile citizen. The $4,016,671 which this Company paid in taxes for 1939 made us in the state and away the biggest taxpayer in the state. But it would take more than state's best citizen.

In fact, having such a big stake in Georgia's welfare only serves to put us on our mettle in all the other—more aggressive, more constant, more responsible, more human—phases of citizenship.

It makes us keenly conscious that, as an electric company and a citizen, we are honor bound to render the best electric service it is in our power to give—that we are responsible for any judicious use of our power.

It reminds us that to be entitled to fair treatment from our fellow-citizens we must be fair to ourselves; that, of course, we should never intentionally commit a wrong, but if we should, we must right it. This big participation in our state's affairs, in short, keeps us forever aware that our privilege of serving Georgia also involves obligations to Georgia—if we are to sustain the right to our slogan: A Citizen Wherever We Serve.

That same deep sense of responsibility does not disappear when you separate us into 4,600 individual Georgia Power Company employees and follow us into the 555 communities we serve. That's why our employees throughout the state, from management to laborer, are good patriotic citizens and loyal homebodies in their own home towns. That's why we patronize home merchants; keep money in home banks; advertise in home papers; try our court cases, when they sometimes arise, with home lawyers; call home doctors when we are sick; belong to home churches and send our children to home schools—take a vital, vigorous, interested part in all the forward-looking activities of every town and city in which we live and work as citizens.

The taxes we pay are really only an entrance fee—letting us into the broad field of Georgia-building opportunity which true citizenship represents.

Spring Socials Culminate In Elaborate Affairs

College socials soared to new heights Saturday as the Delta Sigma fraternity entertained at a tea dance, a banquet and an evening dance in dizzy delightful continuity. The new Statesboro High school gymnasium was the scene of the dances, and the fraternal colors, blue and gold, were emphasized in decorative effects. The tea dance, beginning at 3 in the afternoon and lasting until 5, was attended by fraternity members and their dates, and friends of the fraternity invited as guests. The dancers returned to the floor at 7 and danced until 9, at which time they gathered around the banquet table in the coffee shop of the Rushing hotel. In a setting of spring flowers, good food and enlivening conversation the peak of the evening's entertainment was reached. The fraternity chaplain gave thanks, and a toast to the Rushing hotel was given by Tom Vandiver, followed by a short welcome address by the president Leroy "Major" Cowart.

The new officers and sponsors were then recognized as follows: Tom Vandiver, of Graymont, president; Gerald Groover, of Statesboro, vice-president; J. W. Zetterow, of Dublin, secretary; Harry Robertson, of Waycross, treasurer; William Waters, of Savannah, chaplain. The sponsors for the next year introduced were Miss Catherine Gaine, of Birmingham, Ala., student sponsor; D. T. Turner, of Gainesville, Fla., faculty sponsor, and Dr. R. J. H. DeLoach, honorary faculty sponsor.

Following the introduction of the officers, the dates were in the limelight as they were presented a lovely blue and gold compact by their escorts. The compact, which were identical, bore the engraving "D. S. S." on one side and the donor's name on the other. After the presentation of the favors a three-course dinner was served. During dinner E. D. Turner gave a brief inspirational talk, which was followed by the introduction of the senior members present by "Major" Cowart. The fraternity presented a gift to Miss Gaine as a token of their appreciation for her sponsorship during the year. Mr. Turner was also remembered with a gift.

At 10:30 the party moved on to the gymnasium where dancing continued until midnight. At this time the atmosphere of a cabaret prevailed through the use of individual tables for the members and their dates. Cheating gum, cigarettes, candy, punch, and crackers were served. The dance reached new emotional heights as the voices of all present joined in the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," the fraternity theme song.

The three brilliant events were attended by the largest number of

Statesboro Girl Participates in Historic Graduation Exercises

The attention of the nation was centered on the graduation exercises of Wesleyan college at Macon on this year because it marked the one hundredth anniversary of the first graduating class. Statesboro was especially interested in the graduates and played an important role in the pageant enacted on the campus Saturday.

Miss Alfred Merle, Dorman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dorman, of this city, who received her A. B. degree, was selected to represent the first president of Wesleyan in the pageant, Bishop George Foster Pearce, and re-enacted the address that Dr. Pearce made before the first group of graduates, eleven young ladies. The pageant depicted what women had done in the world for women and in five scenes presented Madame Gail Curci, the greatest singer of modern youth; the Trial of Susan B. Anthony, exponent of woman's rights; a human red cross; and a scene portraying Monsieur and Madame Curie in the discovery of radium. As a grand finale the class of '40 entered, led by Dr. D. H. Anderson.

The baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning was delivered by Dr. William Bryan Selah, of Memphis, Tenn. On Sunday afternoon, the parents of seniors were complimented at a reception given by the student honor council. The reception was held on the Mount Vernon porch. On Sunday evening Alfred Merle and his friends honored their parents at a dinner party at Len Berg's.

On Tuesday evening Mrs. C. B. McAllister, Mrs. Wade Hodges and Mrs. Janie Etheredge were

Brilliant Reception For Members of Senior Class

Adding brilliance to the social side of commencement activities was the lovely reception given in honor of the certificate pupils in the piano and speech departments of the school. On Monday evening the Women's club was the scene of the first of these receptions. At the time Mrs. Dew Groover, Mrs. F. A. Smallwood, Mrs. Cecil Waters, Mrs. T. W. Rowe, complemented their daughters, Mary Frances Etheridge, Martha Evelyn Hodges, Mrs. Jesse O. Johnston, and McAllister directed guests from the line to the tea table. Mrs. Etheridge assisted in serving and entertaining the guests. A color motif of pink and green was accentuated in the decorations and refreshments. The lace-covered tea table had for its central decoration a crystal bowl filled with pink double larkspur flanked by light green tapers in crystal candelabra. Punch bowls at each end of the table were filled with green punch. Mrs. Thad Morris and Miss Bernice Woodcock presided at the punch bowls.

Miss Groover wore a dainty white frock, embroidered in blue. A Scarlett O'Hara model, she carried a nosegay of pink carnations and wore a pink carnation in her hair.

Miss Waters chose a white all-over embroidered model with sweetheart neckline, puffed sleeves and bouffant skirt. Her flowers were red carnations.

Miss Smallwood wore a smart evening frock with tomato colored bodice and navy blue and white striped full skirt.

Miss Rowe's frock was of white chiffon with long full sleeves. A red giraffe made of flower petals gave distinction to the model. The skirt was full. Her flowers were also red carnations.

Miss Hodges wore a pink net frock trimmed in bands of orchid velvet ribbon. The square neckline was finished with two rows of large reflecting flint. No focusing. Snapshot and 5-8 inch pictures on No. 127 Kodak film. Modern photographing methods lead to pictures of 2 1/2 x 3 1/2 inches, an excellent album size. Braided carrying strap.

Attention

The Drug Stores of Statesboro have received the following notice from the Health Department with regards to sale of milk here:

"It shall be unlawful for hotels, soda fountains, restaurants, grocers and other establishments to sell or serve any milk or milk products except in the original container in which it was received from the distributor."

"This section of the ordinance requires that the milk used in mixed drinks shall be used from the original container received from the distributor necessitating the use of small bottles of milk so that each mixed drink served to the consumer shall contain all the milk as received from the distributor in its original container."

"Due to the fact that additional equipment is necessary to meet this requirement, this section of the ordinance will not become effective until June 1, 1940."

Because of the added expense necessary to conform with the ordinance, the following new prices for milk drinks:

DR. R. J. H. D'LOACH
AT NEVILLS
On Monday night, May 20, Dr. R. J. H. D'Loach, of Georgia Teachers' college, delivered a very interesting, educational baccalaureate address that was very inspirational to all his listeners. The program closing the graduating exercises for the 1940 term of the Nevills school was as follows:
Processional; invocation; talk, Rev. Oliver Thomas, of Georgia Teachers' college; College song; salutation by Susie Mae Martin; class song; valedictory by Lullene Nesmith; introduction of speakers by Supt. E. L. White; address, Dr. R. J. H. D'Loach; delivery of diplomas by Frank Hook;

Kate Hen, Dayton Anderson, Miriam Bowen, Ellis McCordle, Carolyn Proctor and James Rushing. The F. A. chapter award that is annually given by Sears, Roebuck was given to Walton Nesmith for outstanding F. A. work, leadership, activities and special project work. Young Nesmith will be given a two week stay, free of charge, at F. A. Camp Jackson, Ga. This is two years in succession that Nesmith has won this award. He is very active in all F. A. work. Other than special projects he fed out a nice bunch of shoats and also had a steer to enter the fat stock show. Robert Cox was selected the alternate with a close follow-up. If for any reason Nesmith can't take advantage of the award, Cox will be sent in his place.

SHOULD GO BACK TO GUNNY SACK

This story should amuse farmers who have occasion to purchase a gunny sack. A Harlan county farmer, his soil check in his pocket, decided it was time for a summer outfit. "I want some underwear," he told the department store clerk. "What size?" queried the salesman. "I don't know," said the farmer slowly, "but the last one I had were 9-3-3."

ELBERTONIAN GROWS FLY-SIZED ORCHIDS

They're no bigger than a fly, but they're orchids! So boasts W. E. Hall, amateur horticulturist, of Elberton, who is proving that "orchids will grow in Elberton" by successfully cultivating a wild Florida specimen. The tiny blossoms are perfect in every detail, and are the type that eventually become commercial orchids, through the process of cross-pollination.

Terraced pasture land conserves both water and soil.

KEEP YOUR MONEY IN BULLOCH COUNTY

How many of you housewives in Statesboro have ever stopped to consider what it means to do your food shopping with your Independent Statesboro Grocer? If you will stop to consider just for a moment it means everything to you, and your family. When you buy your groceries from locally owned and operated grocery stores you are helping your city to grow. You are helping your husband to make more money. You are keeping Bulloch County money in Bulloch County. The local Independent Grocers Stores buy their groceries from the wholesale merchants here in Statesboro. They are home-owned and operated. Every dollar you spent with your merchant means dollars to you. You might hear that the Independent Grocer's prices are a little higher, but upon careful investigation you will find this to be not true. The Independent Grocers' products are just as cheap as you can find anywhere in Statesboro.
